Wise Music Group has long celebrated diversity in its classical catalogues. The call for fairer representation of women composers in the programming of festivals and orchestral seasons has never been stronger. As a result we are regularly asked for information about the repertoire written by women composers whose music we represent.

This booklet is laid out by composer in chronological order and emphasises the rich history and output of their orchestral music in particular. We have included brief introductions to each composer, repertoire listings and links to explore the music further online.

This new 2020 edition includes such leading Russian names as Sofia Gubaidulina, Galina Ustvolskaya and Elena Firsova, represented in America and Canada through G Schirmer, as well as new signings and a selection of updated works.

There are of course many others too, such as Ethel Smyth, Elisabeth Lutyens and, indeed, Oscar-winning composer Hildur Guðnadóttir (whose work we will be further celebrating in the coming months) who also represent the diversity of our catalogue and are all equally worthy of discovery.

Visit wisemusicclassical.com for more details or contact your local Wise Music Group office or representative for further information about any of the composers or repertoire featured in this booklet.

Yours sincerely,

James Rushton
Group Head of Classical Publishing, Wise Music Group
In 1933, Florence Price became the first African-American woman to have her work performed by a major American orchestra, when the Chicago Symphony Orchestra gave the world premiere of her Symphony No 1 in E Minor. Price’s revelatory interpolation of different African-American music styles into classical compositions will delight and empower audiences and creators for generations to come.

Galina Ustvolskaya (1919-2006)
G Schirmer | Russian | [Spotify]

‘There is no link whatsoever between my music and that of any other composer, living or dead,’ Galina Ustvolskaya infamously wrote. Her deeply spiritual music can be deafening and explosive, but also eerie and meditative; it rawly explores the darkness and mystery of life and humanity.

Key Works

Kaija Saariaho (b. 1952)
Chester Music | Finnish | Spotify

Saariaho’s music follows in the French spectralist tradition and is continually ‘varied and wondrously strange’. Her ‘pieces unfold with minute and seemingly constant shifts of subtle sounds and colourings… quivering sonorities and spin off, sometimes disappearing into an ether’ (The New York Times). She was the first female composer to be programmed at the Metropolitan Opera in over one hundred years, after Ethel Smyth.

Intensely inspired by the myths and the nature of her native Lapland, Outi Tarkiainen writes music with roots as deep as the mosses and birch trees of the region. Having studied at the Sibelius Academy, the Guildhall School of Music and Drama and the University of Miami, she has composed for everything from big bands to chamber groups and symphony orchestras, always writing music of depth and beauty.
